

Dear Texas Outdoor Family Camper,

We hope you are as excited about participating in our new Texas Outdoor Family program as we are! The activities and programs we offer will enable you and your family to comfortably and safely enjoy your Texas State Parks and provide the skills for a lifetime of rewarding outdoor experiences. Please note this packet includes the following:

- Check list of recommended items you and your family should bring
- Meal ideas for the weekend
- Rules, regulations and expectations of participants attending the workshop
- Waiver for activities and medical information form

Please take a moment to review the suggested equipment list. Configure it to your family's needs while considering that the weather can quickly change. Please note we do not provide sleeping bags or blankets. Remember, it is better to have something and not need it than to need an item and not have it! We have planned our activities so that your family will have a memorable time in the park, but we also understand that sharing private time with your family is important. If there is a time when your family would rather go on a hike, go swimming, or even take a nap, then feel free to do so.

The meal ideas include common items you may already have in your kitchen or are readily available at your local grocery store. You will need to furnish a cooler and ice to keep the perishables cold. If you discover that you forgot something once you arrive at the park, never fear — a grocery store is only a short drive away. Can you smell the food cooking over the open fire already? Meals undoubtedly taste better outside.

Finally, a reminder — check-in time is from 9:00-9:30 a.m. for 1 day workshops and 5:30-6:30 p.m. for 2 day workshops. Please plan to arrive at the park on time as our introductory session will begin promptly. The sooner we start, the more fun we can have, so please don't be late. We know that traffic, restroom breaks, and packing the vehicle can take longer than expected. Please plan accordingly by adding 30 minutes to your travel time to be sure you have reached your campsite, not the park entrance, by the start of the program.

If you have any questions please don't hesitate to contact us at (512) 389-8903 or email at tofsp@tpwd.texas.gov

We look forward to seeing you soon — welcome to our Texas Outdoor Family!

— Texas Outdoor Family State Park Staff

A Note from your Park Ranger

Welcome! We are pleased that you and your family are participating in the Texas Outdoor Family Program. It is a wonderful opportunity for you to share time together in the outdoors and learn more about Texas State Parks. Please take a few minutes to read some guidelines, rules, and suggestions which are designed for your family's enjoyment and safety.

Your Safety

Be prepared: Wear appropriate dress and comfortable walking shoes in the outdoors. It is wise to dress in layers so that you may remove or add layers as needed. Know your abilities and physical limits. Before setting out on a hike, become aware of distances and trail conditions.

Carry water with you at all times: We recommend you drink one-half to one full quart of water or sports drink each and every hour you are in the heat. Carry your water bottle, drink small amounts often, and seek shade when you need it. Heat illness can be caused by excessive heat and a lack of fluids. Hike with a buddy and always let someone know where you are going.

Avoid harmful wildlife and plants: Stay in mowed areas and on trails where you can see possible dangers. By traveling where others have traveled before you, you will limit encounters with possible hazards. It is dangerous to eat wild-collected foods as they may cause a harmful reaction.

Being Kind to the Park

Leave What You Find: The collection of plants and animals is illegal in a state park. Help us "Leave No Trace" and preserve the beauty that you have experienced for the next visitor to come along after you.

Respect Wildlife: Feeding wildlife causes them to become habituated to interacting with humans. This can be potentially unsafe for wildlife as their natural behavior is altered.

Dead wood has life too: See for yourself by lifting a decaying log and notice all the creatures that call it home. Texas State Parks prohibits firewood gathering. Bring your own kindling and paper, or fire starter.

Respect Your Neighbors: Quiet times enforced 10 p.m. - 6 a.m. for everyone's enjoyment.

Dispose of Waste Properly: Keep this park natural and be a good steward; pick up litter and put it in its place. Don't forget to bring a trash bag from home. It is an often forgotten item!

Travel on Durable Surfaces Plants "grow by the inch but die by the foot." Help protect you, the wildlife and the vegetation. You'll also avoid thorny bushes and biting insects!

Suggestions for Camping with Weather

As with all outdoor activities, we are at the mercy of Mother Nature and the weather that she presents us with. Fear not! Our rangers have camped through it all. From 115 to 15 degrees, our Rangers know how to stay comfortable when sleeping in a tent. Take a few of their tips and tricks to ensure that you have a comfortable overnight stay with the Texas Outdoor Family Program:

Cold Weather

- A winter cap and wool socks to wear to bed. You will be surprised by the difference it makes! You don't have wool socks? Wear two pairs of normal socks!
- Gloves for those early mornings and late evenings when the sun is hiding.
- Hot Chocolate Mix
- An Extra Blanket – it is much easier to have 1 too many than 1 too few.
- Coffee – we do supply French Presses for use at your site! Coarse ground coffee is best.
- Hunter's Hand-Warmer Packets – sold at any outdoors store, these onetime use packets begin to heat up when exposed to the air and go great in jacket pockets or in sleeping bags.
- A campfire is often essential to any camping trip. Firewood is available for purchase at nearly every State Park but kindling and tinder are not. Bring your own newspaper and small pieces of wood from home. Collecting firewood at a park, regardless of its size, is illegal and not allowed.

Other things you might consider:

Hot Water Bottle: Heat water on your camp stove, transfer it to a safe and tightly sealable container, and put it in your sleeping bag with you.

Does your campsite have electricity? Ask your reservations agent or email tofsp@tpwd.texas.gov about your specific event and we'll be able to tell you. If so, consider an electric blanket for your family. Don't forget the extension cord!

Space heaters are generally not a good idea. In close quarters they can be easily tipped over causing injury or damage. Any heater with a visible red hot heating element is not allowed inside the tent!

Extra Insulation for your cot: Cots & air mattresses can be very comfortable, but they can also make you very cold. Sleeping on a pillow of cold air makes it hard for your body to stay warm. Put down a blanket or foam pad first, between you and your mattress or cot, for insulation!

Hot Weather

- Sunscreen to protect your skin- You don't need a high SPF, just be sure to reapply as the day goes on.
- Spray bottle- One with a "mist" setting is perfect for using to cool you off without getting soaked.
- Cold Water- Freeze a half-full water bottle. Before a hike or activity, top off with liquid water and enjoy.
- Extra Ice- Ice will melt fast. Be sure you have enough and use extra to help you cool off.
- Hat or bandana- Protecting your head from the rays of the sun is important during the summer time. A wet bandana around the neck will cool the rest of your body down.
- Folding shade canopy- Some parks may not have trees or shade structures. A portable folding canopy can be an invaluable tool.
- A battery powered fan – Sold at any outdoors store, these are handy for inside the tent as well as outside. Corded fans are okay too, check your site for electrical outlets beforehand.
- A hammock- A great piece of gear that keeps your back cool but allows you sit or lie down and relax. Nylon and Brazilian hammocks are great options.
- Simple Food- Sandwiches, salad, fruits, and other easy to prepare items that don't require a grill or fire.
- Hydration packs and water bottles- Great for water and electrolyte replenishing powders, tablets, and mixes.

Other things you might consider:

Does your campsite have electricity? Ask your reservations agent or email tofsp@tpwd.texas.gov about your specific event and we'll be able to tell you. If so, consider an electric fan for your family. Don't forget the extension cord!

Take it easy. In the warmer months, allow some extra time for activities than you normally would. Enjoy the outdoors. Be patient and flexible.

Drink up! Know the signs of dehydration and heat stroke. If you're feeling tired or dizzy, take a break, drink some fluids, and find some shade. Keep an eye out on friends and family as well. Fatigue, muscle cramps, and a lack of sweat are some early signs that you need to cool down.

Rainy Weather

- A rain jacket and pants – Keeping your body dry will help you retain heat and be more comfortable.
- An extra change of clothes – Being sure that you have something to change into for bed or when the rain stops will help ensure a positive experience.
- Board and Card Games – Your rangers will have a set of nature themed activities to help pass the time but don't forget to bring your favorites from home. These are great for inside your tent.
- Resealable bags – Zipper close sandwich bags will help keep any small items like phones and wallets from getting wet.
- 10'x 10' Portable Canopy – Some campsites have shelters over the picnic table, but most do not.
- Rain boots or extra footwear – Clean and dry feet make everyone a little happier.
- A sense of Adventure! – Camping in the rain can be a lot of fun if you are prepared.
- Dry firewood and kindling – If rain is threatening, wood might be best kept in the car until it is needed.
- Be safe about lightning – Tents are a safe place for most storms. If lightning is a concern, your ranger will have tips to keep you safe.

Other things you might consider:

Wildlife relies on rain! As drought in Texas continues, we need to embrace the rain when it comes. Remember that rain can dampen a weekend, but it gives life to nature around us. Keep your eyes open for more wildlife activity after or during a rain!

You'll have the park to yourself! The threat of rain deters many park visitors. Use this to your advantage as lines at the headquarters are shorter and parks are more peaceful!

Camp Friendly, Family Meal Ideas

For your convenience we have a few camp menu ideas. Please note these are simply recommendations. You're certainly free to bring any of your family favorites. Remember to store all perishables in your iced cooler. Do you have questions regarding campfire cooking? See your ranger about tips for preparing a great meal at your campsite.

Snacks: Saturday morning, afternoon, Sunday morning

Fruits, trail mix, nuts, energy bars, fruit leather, dry cereal, etc. Water and juice.

Saturday lunch: Picnic-style cold lunch, no cooking required

You will likely be busy putting your campsite together during the late morning of Saturday. We suggest a simple lunch to avoid the time required to cook:

Wraps, Sandwiches, Vegetable Spears, Pretzels, Salsa, and Hummus are great options.

Saturday dinner: Outdoor cooking options are endless

Consider that you will have a stove with pots and pans in addition the charcoal/wood grill provided with each campsite. We like to suggest that folks plan their meal ahead of time to save some prep work at your campsite after a long day of being active in the park. If you can cut your vegetables at home and pre portion out the additional ingredients, you will save time, packing space, and lighten your load.

Dinner favorites include:

Chicken Kabobs, Turkey Burgers, Grilled Meats & Seafood over Salad, Fajitas, Hot Dogs, Grilled Veggies over Pasta, Corn on the Cob, Beans, and Fresh Roasted Veggies in a Foil Pouch. Your rangers are always looking for new recipes, so we look forward to seeing your family favorite!

Sunday breakfast:

If you are an early riser, we encourage you to make a fantastic campsite breakfast. Four Grain Pancakes, eggs with avocado, and veggie sausage are always family favorites. If you are looking for something a little simpler, we suggest yogurt, whole grain cereal, granola and fresh fruit to get your day started right. Don't forget the coffee! Your ranger will have a French press for you to use, just ask!

Camp Cooking

We encourage our families to spend time together and to prepare meals while out camping.

We provide gas stoves for cooking over a burner and also encourage families to grill or utilize a campfire for their meals.

Safety

Remember that cooking requires heat and heat can often cause burns. Be sure to cook on durable surfaces and be aware of the placement of items near stoves or near the fire. Make sure you have a water source near your cooking station in case you need to extinguish a fire or cool a burn.

Methods of cooking

Stove top – our stoves use white gas and require a little bit of priming to get going. Once the stove is primed and the flame has settled down participants will have a hot blue flame to cook over. Remind participants to use oil in the pan if they are intending to fry anything in our fry pans.

Open flame – chopped items can be folded into a tin foil pocket for easy campfire cooking. This is a great way to roast vegetables and prepare a mess free dish outdoors.

Dutch oven – the Dutch oven uses coals as a heat source and is a great way to bake outdoors. A popular cooking vessel of the old west Dutch oven cooking has been a mainstay at campsites for generations.

There are many great online resources available for camp cooking recipes! Take some time to explore options and have fun cooking outside!

Smartphones and Apps!

Many folks consider camping to be exclusive from technology. At the Texas Outdoor Family we want everyone to feel at home, comfortable, and engaged in the outdoors. If this means that you download an app or two to help you identify species of wildlife, find constellations in the night sky, or find hidden treasures called geocaches, then we're all for it! Here is a short list of a few free apps that you might find useful during your adventure at a Texas State Park!

Geocaching Intro – allows you to expand on the activity we will introduce at your workshop

Star Chart – Turns your phone into a map of constellations and planets when pointed at the sky

iNaturalist – Share your nature observations with the iNaturalist community

MapMyHike – Keeps track of your distance hiked as a tool for getting physically fit

Flashlight – It never hurts to have a backup to your traditional flashlight

Compass – Having a compass in your pocket can be a handy tool while spending time outdoors

Peterson Birds Pocket Edition – Help ID the birds you might see on your camping trip
